

Rheumatism Sprains Lumbago Sciatica

Why grin and bear all these ills when Sloan's Liniment kills pain?

"I have used your Liniment and can say it is fine. I have used it for sore throat, strained shoulder, and it acted like a charm."—Allen Dunn, Route 1, Box 88, Pine Valley, Miss.

"I am a painter and paperhanger by trade, consequently up and down ladders. About two years ago my left knee became lame and sore. It pained me at nights at times till I could not rest, and I was contemplating giving up my trade on account of it when I chanced to think of Sloan's Liniment. I had never tried it before, and I am glad to state that less than one 25c. bottle fixed me up apparently as good as ever."—Charles C. Capshell, Florence, Texas.

Meat Cheaper—Where?

Kansas City, Feb. 17.—Wholesale meat prices are the lowest for two or three years, although retail prices show little variation. The large supply of stock for slaughter now, owing to fear of foot and mouth disease, and the oblation from meat by so many people in the East, are assigned as the reasons for the drop. Among the comparative prices beef hams selling at 24 cents last October are now 19 cents. Chuck steak, then 15 cents, is now 11½ cents.

CANDIDATE FOR SECRETARY OF STATE

G. B. LIKENS

TO THE VOTERS OF KENTUCKY—I am a candidate for Secretary of State, subject to the will of the Democratic party to be expressed in the primary election Aug. 7, 1915. My party loyalty, my availability as a candidate, my conduct as a private citizen and my record as a public official are respectfully submitted for investigation and consideration. For more than three years I have served you as Assistant Auditor, and while the office is not an elective one, the duties are important and exacting. These I have honestly endeavored to discharge properly and efficiently. My experience, I feel, has especially equipped me to fill the office to which I now aspire. If nominated and elected as your Secretary of State, all the energy and ability which I have shall be earnestly devoted to the business of that department. No duty will be too arduous for me to perform faithfully, and none will be considered too trivial to receive careful and prompt attention. Feeling very grateful for the assurances of support already received, and soliciting the votes and influence of all, I am,

Sincerely yours,
G. B. LIKENS.

scription, but confessed that he had given up hope of rescue when Sir Donald appeared as by magic.

It was down when they reached the hotel, and Ruth was on the balcony watching. When Eversham looked up and called out, "I managed it!" she leaned far over, her eyes shining, and threw him a kiss.

The baronet's heart beat high. He had won her for his wife.

The fact that Dorr and Ruth had sailed for India did not escape Wilkerson and Mrs. Dorr's sharp senses, and they sailed, with Drake as their companion, on the next steamer.

"We can easily pick up Dorr's trail when we land," Wilkerson told them.

He found this true. Within two days he had also ascertained that they had left for the interior under the escort of Sir Donald Eversham.

Without delay they followed and in due time landed in Bhalu, not long after Sir Donald had rescued Dorr from the mob who had seized him when he had tried to recapture the idol. Wilkerson grinned when he told Mrs. Dorr of this fiasco.

"But will you fare any better?" she demanded.

"Sure," he said confidently. "I'll let Dorr and this British baronet bore

"Then the 'Master Key' will be ours," their fingers getting the thing; then I'll get it away from them. It's a long way back to America, and if we stick tight to Dorr we'll sooner or later be able to handle the plans ourselves.

"Then the 'Master Key' will be ours for good and all."

A Card To The Public.

We yesterday sold to Messrs. S. A. Pate, Lucian H. Davis and his son Latham Davis our entire grocery line and leased to them for a term of years, the stand now occupied, No. 308 South Main Street.

In withdrawing from the grocery trade we wish publicly to express our appreciation of the generous support of our friends of that department of our business. Its volume has increased each year in a most gratifying ratio, and our successors are stepping into a business with a big following. We understand that Mr. Pate, who added such a large percentage to the department's patronage last year as manager, will continue as the active head of the business.

We confidently commend the Pate-Davis Grocery Company to our many loyal friends.

Very Respectfully,
FORBES MFG. CO.,

Pinning on Things.

A correspondent of the Chicago Herald, taking a fall out of the kaiser for pinning a decoration on his little grandson, says: "Could you imagine President Wilson pinning anything on his grandson?" Yes, we could imagine his doing just that, but it would be a rough job and awkwardly done.—Tennessean.

Princess

"The Hoosier Schoolmaster," by Edward Eggleston, is the leader at the Princess to-day, featuring Max Figman and Lolita Robertson. This immortal story has for a foundation one of the most intensely human themes to be found in the entire field of literature. The scene is laid in rural Indiana in 1831. Ralph Hartsook, the schoolmaster, arouses antagonism by trying to introduce "book larnin" into a frontier neighborhood where several schoolmasters had been licked and run off. Ralph boards in the Means household and Sis Means falls in love with him. He in turn falls in love with Hannah Thompson, a bound girl in the Means home. Bud Means is the bully who will not stand for "larnin." The masterpiece is in five parts and there is much of comedy and tragedy, but all ends well.

Suicide of Mose Ayers.

Russellville, Ky., Feb. 17.—The body of Mose Ayers, 41, was found hanging in the barn of his brother-in-law, Olie Price, near here Tuesday. Ayers disappeared from home in December, 1913, after drawing from the bank all the money he had on deposit. Last June he was heard from in Bainbridge, Ga., and returned home in December, but was unable to tell where he had been except that he had traveled over a large part of the South.

Bolters Bolt Again.

Senate Democrats in caucus Saturday night unanimously agreed to support an amendment to the Senate rules which would limit debate. The seven Democrats who have been opposing the Ship Purchase Bill did not attend the caucus.

Night Rider Troubles.

Hickman, Ky., Feb. 15.—Night rider troubles have again arisen below Hickman between the white people and negroes, warning having been given to several negroes to leave different plantations. Recently negro houses on the plantations of W. J. Harper and W. C. Tipton were shot into by the night riders, and much alarm prevails in that section among the negroes. One man was arrested on Saturday, and yesterday gave the names of a number of men in that section said to have taken part in the raids. Today there have been about fifteen warrants issued for their arrest.

VICK'S Group and SALVE
"JUST RUB IT ON"

Hearing From Home.

Senator Bankhead, of Alabama, is one of the seven traitorous Democrats who are trying to defeat the ship purchase bill. The legislature of Alabama has passed a resolution urging the enactment of the law.

Senator Clarke, of Arkansas, is another recalcitrant. The Arkansas legislature has joined with Alabama in passing a resolution in favor of the ship purchase bill.

Clarke and Bankhead are out of harmony with their party and in opposition to the wishes of their states.

They are lined up with the subsidy crowd and the enemies of Woodrow Wilson. They are lined up with the reactionaries who hold that the rights of property are paramount.

Strange, isn't it, that when property shrieks some statesmen will desert party and constituents to rush to the call.—Evansville Courier.

Does any one doubt that the Kentucky legislature, if row in session, would also act as the legislatures of Alabama and Arkansas have done in this matter?—Messenger.
